DISTRICT OF NEVADA

ARTURO C. BOLANOS,

Case No. 3:16-cv-00640-MMD-VPC

Petitioner,

ORDER

v.

RENEE BAKER, et al.,

Respondents.

Petitioner Arturo C. Bolanos has submitted a pro se petition for writ of habeas corpus pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 2254 and has paid the filing fee. (ECF Nos. 1, 2.) Now before the Court is petitioner's motion for a stay of these federal proceedings until his state habeas petition is resolved. (ECF No. 4.)

In Rhines v. Weber, 544 U.S. 269 (2005), the Supreme Court placed limitations upon the discretion of the court to facilitate habeas petitioners' return to state court to exhaust claims. The Rhines Court stated:

[S]tay and abeyance should be available only in limited circumstances. Because granting a stay effectively excuses a petitioner's failure to present his claims first to the state courts, stay and abeyance is only appropriate when the district court determines there was good cause for the petitioner's failure to exhaust his claims first in state court. Moreover, even if a petitioner had good cause for that failure, the district court would abuse its discretion if it were to grant him a stay when his unexhausted claims are plainly meritless. Cf. 28 U.S.C. § 2254(b)(2) ("An application for a writ of habeas corpus may be denied on the merits, notwithstanding the failure of the applicant to exhaust the remedies available in the courts of the State").

Rhines, 544 U.S. at 277. The Court went on to state that, "[I]t likely would be an abuse of discretion for a district court to deny a stay and to dismiss a mixed petition if the petitioner

1 had good cause for his failure to exhaust, his unexhausted claims are potentially
2 meritorious, and there is no indication that the petitioner engaged in intentionally dilatory
3 litigation tactics.” Id. at 278. The Ninth Circuit has held that the application of an
4 “extraordinary circumstances” standard does not comport with the “good cause” standard
5 prescribed by Rhines. Jackson v. Roe, 425 F.3d 654, 661-62 (9th Cir. 2005). The Court
6 may stay a petition containing both exhausted and unexhausted claims if: (1) the habeas
7 petitioner has good cause; (2) the unexhausted claims are potentially meritorious; and (3)
8 petitioner has not engaged in dilatory litigation tactics. Rhines, 544 U.S. at 277; see also
9 Wooten v. Kirkland, 540 F.3d 1019, 1023-24 (9th Cir. 2008).

10 Petitioner challenges his conviction, pursuant to a jury verdict, of first-degree
11 murder and three counts of attempted murder, for which he was sentenced to 653 months
12 to life imprisonment. (ECF No. 4 at 2.) He states on the face of his current federal petition
13 that he has a state postconviction petition currently pending in state court. (ECF No. 2 at 14 2.) He explains that due to judicial interpretation of the one-year time limits under NRS §
15 34.726(1) and 28 U.S.C. § 2241(d)(1) he has reasonable confusion about whether he will 16 face a time bar in federal court without a stay of these proceedings. Id. Petitioner has also
17 filed a motion for appointment of counsel. (ECF No. 3.)

18 In Pace v. DiGuglielmo, 544 U.S. 416 (2005), the United States Supreme Court
19 stated that a “petitioner’s reasonable confusion about whether a state filing would be 20 timely will ordinarily constitute good cause for him to file in federal court.” The Court
21 indicated that a petitioner facing the “predicament” that could occur if he is waiting for a
22 final decision from the state courts as to whether his petition was “properly filed” should 23 file a “protective” federal petition and ask the federal court for a stay and abeyance. See
24 also, Rudin v. Myles, 766 F.3d 1161, 1174 (9th Cir. 2014). In this regard, petitioner’s pro
25 se federal petition was appropriately filed as a protective petition. Petitioner has 26 demonstrated good cause under Rhines for the failure to exhaust all grounds of the 27 federal petition prior to filing it. It is unclear whether petitioner’s state postconviction
28 petition, which appears to raise ineffective assistance of counsel claims, will be deemed

1 timely filed. Accordingly, a stay and abeyance of this federal habeas corpus proceeding
2 is appropriate. Further, the grounds of the federal petition that petitioner seeks to exhaust
3 in state court are not “plainly meritless” under the second prong of the Rhines test.
4 Currently, the Court has no indication that petitioner engaged in dilatory litigation tactics.
5 This Court thus concludes that petitioner has satisfied the criteria for a stay and abeyance
6 under Rhines. Petitioner’s motion for a stay and abeyance of this federal habeas corpus
7 proceeding is granted.

8 Petitioner has also filed a motion for appointment of counsel. (ECF No. 3.) There
9 is no constitutional right to appointed counsel for a federal habeas corpus proceeding.
10 Pennsylvania v. Finley, 481 U.S. 551, 555 (1987); Bonin v. Vasquez, 999 F.2d 425, 428
11 (9th Cir.1993). The decision to appoint counsel is generally discretionary. Chaney v.
12 Lewis, 801 F.2d 1191, 1196 (9th Cir.1986), cert. denied, 481 U.S. 1023 (1987); Bashor
13 v. Risley, 730 F.2d 1228, 1234 (9th Cir.), cert. denied, 469 U.S. 838 (1984). However,
14 counsel must be appointed if the complexities of the case are such that denial of counsel
15 would amount to a denial of due process, and where the petitioner is a person of such 16 limited education as to be incapable of fairly presenting his claims. See Chaney, 801 F.2d
17 at 1196; see also Hawkins v. Bennett, 423 F.2d 948 (8th Cir.1970).

18 Here, the Court finds that the motion for appointment of counsel is premature.
19 Petitioner will need to file a motion to re-open the case after his state postconviction
20 proceedings have concluded. Further, petitioner must file a motion to file an amended
21 petition and attach a proposed amended petition. Such amended petition must clearly 22 and concisely set forth the factual basis for his claims, as well as demonstrate that the 23 petition is timely and that his claims are exhausted. At that time, petitioner may file a 24 second motion for appointment of counsel if he is able to demonstrate that the 25 complexities of his case are such that a denial of counsel would amount to a denial of 26 due process. Accordingly, the motion for appointment of counsel is denied without 27 prejudice.

28 ///

1 It is therefore ordered that the Clerk electronically serve the petition (ECF No. 2)
2 on the respondents.

3 It is further ordered that the Clerk add Adam Paul Laxalt, Nevada Attorney General,
4 as counsel for respondents.

5 It is further ordered that petitioner's motion for stay and abeyance (ECF No. 4) of 6 this federal habeas proceeding is granted.

7 It is further ordered that petitioner's motion for appointment of counsel (ECF No.
8 3) is denied without prejudice.

9 It is further ordered that petitioner's application to proceed in forma pauperis (ECF
10 No. 5) is denied as moot.

11 It is further ordered that this action is stayed pending final resolution of petitioner's
12 state postconviction habeas petition.

13 It is further ordered that the grant of a stay is conditioned upon petitioner returning
14 to federal court with a motion to reopen the case within forty-five (45) days of the issuance
15 of the remittitur by the Supreme Court of Nevada, at the conclusion of the state court
16 proceedings on the postconviction habeas petition.

17 It is further ordered that the Clerk administratively close this action, until such time
18 as the Court grants a motion to reopen the matter.

19 DATED THIS 20th day of December 2016.
